ParentLink helps you find answers to parenting questions.

Professionals discuss the concern with you, offer trusted information, and/or refer you to helpful services. We help parents answer parenting questions—no matter how big or small. Providers' calls are welcome too.

We take as much time as needed to answer questions like these:

I haven't had a baby in the house for 20 years!

Are there new recommendations for caring for my grandbaby?

How can I get my teenage grandson to help more around the house?

Is there a Grandparent Support Group in my area? What happens at these meetings?

How do I become my granddaughter's legal guardian?

Is there a home visiting program that could offer support as I raise my 2-year-old grandson?

The school issued an iPad to my grandchildren. How do I make sure they stay safe online?

How do I know if my granddaughter is responsible enough to have a smartphone?

What is "cutting" and why would a child do this?

My grandkids are being bullied at school. What can I do to help stop it?
